

minecraft website!

creative director → katie zhu

designer → sophie leong

initial build notes

- gorgeous homepage!!! literally how i pictured it!!
- would prefer when you click on the buttons on the homepage, that the site did not open to a new tab but rather the tab that the user is already in
- i could kind of see the subtext being a different font, maybe something more game-like or something that matches with minecraft
- development page → would like to see some of the yellow italic text that you use on other pages
- characters page → would be cool if you hovered over each character that there was an animation
  - example → i looked up a "shake" animation online and copied the code so hopefully it's not that difficult!
  - small creeper :0
- really great job with the responsive design! i only really noticed on the characters page that some of the images are really big, but other than that, amazing!
- the "copyright" text could be fixed at the bottom instead of floating
